He was brought before Judge Terrell when he appeared perfectly sane and was accordingly released. Gaining his freedom the poor man was very much delighted and he ran down the sidewalk from the court house at a rapid gait, evidently wanting to put as great a distance between himself and the county's temple of justice as he was able to accomplish. In his examination it was ascertained that the man had been teased and tormented by a lot of youngsters and expressed his disgust at the treatment by a series of wild exclamations, which lead up to his arrest.

THE PEOPLE WANT IT.

What Is Done to Squelch Independent Journalism.

Every effort has been made to cripple THE LITTLE ONE CENT SILVER DAILY in this campaign. The Republican Campaign County Central committee contracted over $100 advertising which they repudiate. The Southern Pacific railroad refuses since the Bryan campaign opened all requests for transportation, something never refused before. But the people sustain THE JOURNAL by doubling its circulation and appreciate its independence.

WASSON IS RELEASED.

Morgan Wasson, who was received at the state penitentiary about five years ago under a life sentence for the cold-blooded murder of a saloon-keeper at Lebanon, was today released from the penitentiary. During Pennoyer's term of office, he exercised his executive clemency and commuted Wasson's sentence to expire in May, 1897, but upon recommendation of the prison physician that longer confinement would result in the prisoner's insanity, Governor Lord today permitted the man to be released. Wasson was taken to his home at Lebanon this morning by his father. The action of the discharged man while awaiting the arrival of the Roseburg mail this morning, gave evidence of the confusion of his mental faculties.
